Vallandigham and Palmer.

Vallandigham has been defeated, and he has sympathizers in Wisconsin who deserve the same treatment at the hands of the people. H. L. Palmer, copperhead candidate for governor of the Badger State, said he hoped to see the "disgraceful assault by the government" upon Vallandigham, "culminate in his election." Mr. Palmer sympathizes with the Ohio traitor against the government. He condemns the one and approves of the acts of the other.

This being the case, it is just about as important for us to defeat Palmer as it was for the people of Ohio to put down Vallandigham. If the latter opposes the war, Palmer justifies him; Val. consorts with Breckinridge, and such traitors, Palmer approves of it; if he votes against all appropriations for the army and navy; if he calls the war an "unholy crusade against the south;" if his "cordial sympathies are wholly with her;" if he attempts to amend the constitution that the country shall be divided into four sections; if he votes against enforcing the laws and preserving the Union by force; if he makes speeches against the conscription; as he has done in all these cases, yet H. L. Palmer thinks he ought to be elected!

We have, therefore, a Vallandigham candidate for governor in this state in the person of H. L. Palmer, the "noblest act" of whose life, say his friends, was his vote against the soldiers' suffrage law. By this vote we know him, and by his declaration of sympathy for the traitor Vallandigham, we read his heart.

Let every voter in Wisconsin who rejoices in the defeat of Vallandigham, make sure that his friend H. L. Palmer is also beaten at the polls.

From the Eighth Regiment.

Barrenness, Oct. 10, 1863.

Meas. Editors:—As a great portion of the Army of the Tennessee has left for other fields, I thought many of our friends at home would be anxious to know what part of the country we were in, I therefore send you a few lines for publication to let them know our position.

Gen. Sherman's corps, except our division, left here some time since to operate in another direction. He sends another corps of the army, the 3d division, to which our brigade is attached, is left in the vicinity of Vicksburg. The 2d brigade, Gen. Mower's, to which our regiment belongs, is stationed at the post of Black River Bridge, about 14 miles east of Vicksburg, the advance post of our line. This brigade is the only one in this army that has held together and retained the same name since the first formation of the Army of the Mississippi, under Gen. Pope, at New Madrid and Island No. 10. We have in the brigade a regiment or battery from every loyal state bordering on the Mississippi river, including Missouri. We do not take up so much room as we did two years ago, but we have the satisfaction of knowing that we are good enough for the same amount of chivalry that boasted not long since that one child of the sunny south was good for five of us northern mudsills; but O glory! haven't we taken that conceit out of them? And don't they know it too? Just about one year ago to day I think they lost considerable confidence in themselves. The first day they got a little taste of us, but the second day we started them. "Old Rossy" is always the best on the home stretch.

We have had no news from the north now in ten days. We have rumors that Rosecrans has been defeated. We get it through rebel sources; but we happen to know Rosey well enough to be satisfied that if he has been whipped he won't stay whipped long; and we further know that somebody else got terribly hurt during the fight. "We are on the way, Brother Rosecrans, thirty thousand more." Bragg will sing, before many weeks, "Get out of the wilderness!"

The weather is very fine here; cool enough for troops to march comfortably. Sickness is greatly on the decrease. We have but few men sick now in the regiment. Gen. Sherman inspected us a few weeks since, and said the 8th was a very fine regiment. He told Gen. Mower his brigade was small, but he wanted no better troops to command than the 2d. Gen. Rosecrans, Stanley, Plummer, Pope and Paine, several times during our service, have complimented us in the same manner; and the old 2d feels proud to know that their services have been appreciated by such men on more fields than one. We are now on our last year, having but a little more than ten months to finish our contract with Uncle Sam, hoping by that time that our old eagle (whose air name is Abe) may soar in triumph over this whole country. We will then be ready to carry him to Mexico, and put to flight the invader of our sister republic. We can then sing the "Star Spangled Banner in triumph shall wave, over the land of the free," and not of the slave. It will then be constitutional to sing this way. We intend to send the president a quill from the wing of his namesake to make out the final statements of the confederacy in about three months. The confederacy is mighty sick—it cannot be helped. The tender nursing that the copperheads are giving it may keep it up for three or four months yet, but we vote the doctors, and if you at home will vote on the nurses we will give it the kind of medicine that will terminate its existence. We will do that, and do the voting too; but don't depend on the soldiers to do all you best to do it as though there was not a hot war yet; beat them at home. We want a large majority there to strengthen us here. Don't let a man be elected that is not in favor of carrying on this war until every traitor north or south shall respect our starry banner everywhere on land or sea. We love our families and homes, and would like all to enjoy them, but unless rebellion is dead we have no homes worth living for. Rebellion dead, we have homes worth living for, and homes for generations to come, a home without war, a country in peace, and with plenty for all who may come; that is the kind of home and country we want; that is what we are fighting for. Those men that tell you they want peace, just tell them to vote for war; vote men and money, and they will have peace; nothing but war will bring peace now, and the more war the quicker the peace.

We don't wish you to understand we glory in war, that we like it as a business. There is not a man in the army but would say peace to-day if he thought it would be a permanent peace, an honorable peace; if this war was to stop anywhere short of submission to federal authority on the part of the south we in a few years would be at war again. Settle it now, and forever; better have one big war than to have a hundred little ones; better have a war when such a man as Abraham Lincoln is in the chair than to have one with such a man in his relief. If Gen. Rosecrans has got whipped in Tennessee and he should lose his entire army, vote him another. If he is defeated some one else is to blame. I hope the report may prove untrue; but if such is the case we say try again. We are certainly the longest winded, our credit is good, one dollar in greenbacks buys twenty confederate dollars here; plenty of confederate money for sale, but no buyers. That shows what confidence they have in their cause.

We are anticipating an attack here daily from the rebel cavalry in our front. We are fortifying and blockading the roads. Our force is small, but we are ready. A large amount of stores are here, which is their object of attack. I suppose the pioneer corps of our division is here preparing facines and gabions for the fortifications at Vicksburg, which are to be very extensive. The lines are greatly contracted around the city, but the works will be far stronger than the old works and can be defended by a small force. We are in good spirits, hoping and expecting to hear of new victories soon both north and south. Col. Jefferson is at home in Wisconsin. Company G is pretty well represented at headquarters, both the quartermaster and adjutant from that company, also the commandant of the regiment. Quite a number of the officers and men are yet home on furlough; 30 of the 38 commissioned officers in the regiment have been home this summer on furlough and a great number of enlisted men. All seem to be benefited by the trip. Capt. King never looked better than now. The Chaplain is going to give us a lecture this afternoon and as the time is about at hand I must close to attend. Hoping for the welfare of all, I am yours truly,

New York, Oct. 17.

The New York Times' Washington special says: There was little or no fighting yesterday in front. It is rumored here this morning that Lee has sent a portion of his army up the Shenandoah Valley. It is certain that Lee's army crossed the Rappahannock on Wednesday. Meade is in position at Centerville. It is said Lee has only five days provisions with him.

A Washington special to the World says: The army of the Potomac retreated last night, closely pursued by Lee. A battle probably would have been fought on the old Bull Run ground on Thursday, had Meade accepted it. Lee moved heavily on his flank. Meade becoming alarmed, fell back. It is intimated that Lee is going into Maryland again.

The Herald's Washington dispatch says: Reports from the front indicate a movement by the enemy's cavalry toward the Potomac.

In addition to a large number of soldiers, thousands of men have been detailed from the convalescent camps to work on the defenses of Washington.

The best opinion is that large reinforcements have been sent to Lee from Bragg's army, to enable him to make a dash on Washington. Lee has pushed us back with a mere handful, or he has a large army to sustain him. If the latter is true, an attempt to flank Meade by attacking Washington may be expected.

Washington, Oct. 18.

Special to Times.—Washington has been filled with rumors or excitements throughout the day. Belief in the progress of a great battle within 18 miles of the city is very general, but no engagement has taken place. Rebel guerrillas are prosecuting an active campaign between Meade's army and Washington. This morning several officers attached to Gen. Sedgwick's headquarters were captured.

The World says, editorially: A report reached this city, last night, that the army of Gen. Meade had retired within the defenses of Washington. As this information was not subjected to the scrutiny of Washington censorship, it is not given by army officials any sanction whatever.

Louisville, Oct. 19.

Nashville, Oct. 18th.—A large Union meeting was held last night to celebrate the Pennsylvania and Ohio victories.

Officers from Chattanooga report Bragg's army in force in front of Chattanooga. They don't believe any part of the rebels have left to reinforce Lee. The Cumberland river at Harpeth Shoals is swollen ten feet. The lowlands in the vicinity of the city are entirely submerged.

Chattanooga, Oct. 18.

Cavalry just in report rebel cavalry driven back across the Tennessee river with a loss of over 2,000 killed and wounded and many captured.

We also captured five pieces of artillery. Federal success complete.

Cincinnati, Oct. 18.

Special to Chicago Tribune.—Exciting news is current here to-night to the effect that large rebel forces are supposed to be in Wyandotte county, Virginia, making their way to Ohio, intending to strike in a north or northeasterly direction. The forces are under command of Gen. Buckner, and the same that were driven out of Cumberland Gap and Knoxville by Burnside. It will be remembered that Burnside, in pursuing Buckner to Jonesboro, lost track of him, and supposed that he had gone farther south. In this he was mistaken, if we judge by the present rumors. They are endeavoring to get into Ohio by way of Wyandotte or Wheeling.

In view of this, the big state of Ohio, Adjutant General Hill has issued orders to the commanders of such militia as he has organized to be disbanded; but there is reason to believe that Lee, with an augmented force, is moving in that direction, and will cross that river to attack Washington on the north side, if not prevented. Gen. Meade is moving his force in that direction, and a battle may be expected within 24 hours; but no apprehensions are entertained as to the result.

Washington, Oct. 15.

The information from the Army of the Potomac to-night is to the effect, that the rebels came in (?) from our cavalry yesterday evening, and that the enemy had massed a force at Manassas.

There were vague rumors that the enemy was straitened for supplies, and have signally failed to secure them.

To-Day's Report.

MORNING DISPATCHES.

Chattanooga, Oct. 12.

Special to Tribune, via Nashville, Oct. 18th.—Complete official returns from the infantry engaged in the late battles have been received, and give the following statistics:

Thomas' corps.—Officers killed, 36; wounded, 266; missing, 129; men killed, 636; wounded, 3,297; missing, 2,127; total, 6,301.

McCook's corps.—Officers killed, 40; wounded, 169; missing, 70; men killed, 333; wounded, 2,397; missing, 1,503; total, 4,250.

Crittenden's corps.—Officers killed, 39; wounded, 218; total, 3,300.

Two brigades of a Georgia's reserve corps, engaged early in the afternoon of the 10th inst. fought, officers killed, 16; men, 230; officers wounded, 69; men, 877; officers missing, 31; men, 527; total, 1,732. The losses of the cavalry are not reported. It will make grand aggregate of about 16,000. Of this, 4,684 are missing, about 2,500 of the wounded and 36 pieces of artillery were lost, and a few wagons.

Southern papers of the 9th are received. They still insist that their whole loss will not exceed 12,000, but partial returns published by them indicate that it is greater. Hindman's division alone, lost 2,100, out of 3,400 men. The rest of their divisions continue very dependent over the failure of Bragg to take Chattanooga. Joe Johnston is proved to have been all the time in Mississippi, and not with Bragg's army. Their reports from Mississippi say that two corps from Grant's army are moving to succeed Rosecrans, one overland from Memphis, the other by water.

Jeff Davis is reported to have arrived in Bragg's army on the 10th. All quiet along our front for the last two days.

The vote of Ohio registrants belonging to the army at this point, as far as received up to this morning, is 12,123 for Bragg, 252 for Vallandigham; 15 regiments and 8 batteries are to be sent from, which will swell Bragg's majority to over 12,000. Torments of rain have continually fallen, which kept both sides quiet for three days. The roads are getting very bad.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, OCT. 15.

Tribune's special.—I have just returned from the extreme front. We crossed Bull Run at Stone Bridge, followed it up to Sudley's Mills or Church, and struck the old battle field where we fought Gen. Kilpatrick hunting for the enemy. We were drawn out by sharp artillery fire in the morning. Gen. Kilpatrick had been disturbed at Stone Bridge, in the morning, by his pickets being driven in, when he sent up Gen. Carter, and followed with his entire division. The enemy's cavalry made a stand in and behind some stone houses in the clearing, but were sent flying by a few shells from our artillery. The fugitives were followed in the direction of Gainesville, Jones' rebel brigade diverging towards Manassas. When we arrived there had just been a little cavalry brush. No rebel infantry was seen, and it is not believed there is any in force this side of Bristow.

Last night Fairfax Court House was alarmed by a report of Stuart's coming down from Aldie, and a force was sent out to meet him. It was finally ascertained, at about 8 o'clock in the evening, that 15 men of the 13th New York cavalry, stationed at Stuart's, near Chambliss, about half way between Fairfax and Centerville, were surprised and surrounded by some guerrillas under Mosby himself, and were outnumbered. They attempted flight, but six of Capt. Jackson's company were captured. One made his escape this morning, and reports 12,000 rebel cavalry on the Lying Pan road, towards Gainesville. About the same time a squad of guerrillas made a descent on the Alexandria road near an Accontone, and carried off some 150 or 200 of a New York regiment stationed there.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

New York, Oct. 19.

Flour less active and shade cooler, at 5.95; 6.10 extra stout; 6.70; 6.80 R. H. O. Wheat receipts 64,338; shade flourer and more doing, at 1.24; 1.30 Chicago spring; 1.27; 1.31 Milwaukee club; 1.32; 1.35 number Iowa; 1.35; 1.40 winter red. Corn receipts 11,221 bushels; market better and more doing, at 97.45. Oats less lower, at 78.90. Park less doing. Lard quiet and steady. Whisky firmer at 60. Stocks lower and dull. Gold 51.

The Memphis Bulletin of the 16th, has information from union refugees, just escaped from blood hounds, and conscription in Mississippi, that Joe Johnston's for a, except one division sent as reinforcements to Bragg, not over ten thousand rebel troops are in the state of Mississippi. Gen. Loring was at Canton on the 8th, with 5,000 infantry. Joe Johnston has gone to Holly Springs on a tour of inspection. Richardson, Ross, Whitfield, Bligh, and Chastaine, with bands about 500 strong, are in different parts of the state conscripting and robbing. In and around Atlanta over one hundred blood hounds are being used to capture union men.

The Memphis and Charleston railroad and telegraph is extended to Iuka. The steamer Lady Jackson struck a snag and sunk near the mouth of White river, loss $25,000, no lives lost.

Gen. Wadsworth, lately, from the army of the Potomac, arriving to-day, found with him a large number of the 14th day of November. The Mobile and Ohio Railroad will be opened from Columbus, Ky. to Jacks's Ferry, Tenn., and the same that were driven out of Cumberland Gap and Knoxville by Burnside. It will be remembered that Burnside, in pursuing Buckner to Jonesboro,

Jim Keller, who murdered Capt. Williams and others, was captured near Sharpsburg, Ky., yesterday, with 8 others of his gang. They were taken to Mr. Sterling, where a man named Watkins, formerly of the 9th Kentucky cavalry, shot and mortally wounded him while in the hands of the guard.

A large force under Buckner is reported moving into Kentucky from the southwest, apparently with the design of striking the Ohio near Gallipolis.

President Lincoln Calls for 300,000 Volunteers.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.

The following proclamation has been issued by President Lincoln:

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas, the term of service of part of the volunteer forces of the United States expires during the coming year; and whereas, in addition to the men raised by the present draft, it is deemed expedient to call out 300,000 volunteers, to serve for three years or the war, not exceeding three years; now, therefore, I, Abraham Lincoln, president of the United States, and commander-in-chief of the army and navy thereof, and of the militia of the several states, when called into active service, do issue this proclamation, calling upon the governors of the different states to place, and have enlisted in the service of the United States, for the various companies and regiments in the field from their respective states, their quota of 300,000 men.

I further proclaim that all the volunteers that are called out and duly enlisted, shall receive advance pay, and pension, and bounty, as heretofore communicated to the governors of states by the war department, through the proper military general's office, by special letters.

I further proclaim that all volunteers received under this call, as well as all others not heretofore credited, shall be duly enrolled and deducted from the quotas established for the next draft.

I further proclaim that if any state shall fail to raise the quota assigned to it by the war department, under this call, then the draft for the deficiency in said quota shall be made in said state, or in the districts of said state, for their due proportion of said quota, and the said draft shall commence on the 5th day of January, 1864.

I further proclaim that nothing in this proclamation shall interfere with existing orders, or with those which may be issued, for the present, in the states where it is now in progress, or where it has not been commenced. The quotas of the states and districts will be assigned by the war department, through the proper military general's office;—due regard being had for men heretofore furnished, whether by volunteering or drafting, and the recruiting will be conducted in accordance with such instructions as may be or may be issued by that department.

In issuing this proclamation, I address myself not only to the governors of the several states, but also to the good and loyal people thereof, invoking them to lend their cheerful, willing and effective aid to the measures thus adopted, with a view to reinforce our victorious armies now in the field, and bring our military operations to a prosperous issue, thus closing forever the fountains of section and civil war.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington, this 17th day of October, A. D. 1863, and of the Independence of the United States, the eighty-eighth.

(Signed.) ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

By Wm. H. Seward, Sec. of State.

The late battle-field in Georgia is said by a correspondent of the Atlanta Intelligencer to have extended for miles, and have a variety of points of interest. Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, Antietam, and Sharpsburg. The field by night is depicted as picturesque and terribly beyond description—the glittering beams shining on the dead, distorted in expression from the wounds of their torn and mangled bodies, with heaps of the wounded and dying, with arms as everywhere, with broken artillery carriages and caissons, dead horses, and all the debris of a badly contested field. The writer confirms the account which we have from our own sources, concerning the unequal slaughter of the artillery.

A notice in a northern town, upon a star door, on Thanksgiving day, read: "Closed on account of the death of a turkey in the family."

Vallandigham and Palmer.

Vallandigham has been defeated, but he has sympathizers in Wisconsin who deserve the same treatment at the hands of the people.

Mr. L. Palmer, copperhead candidate for governor of the Badger State, said he hoped to see the "disgraceful assault by the government" upon Vallandigham, "culminate in his election."

Mr. Palmer sympathizes with the Ohio traitor against the government. He condemns the one and approves of the acts of the other.

This being the case, it is just about as important for us to defeat Palmer as it was for the people of Ohio to put down Vallandigham. If the latter opposes the war, Palmer justifies him; Val. consorts with Breckinridge, and such traitors, Palmer approves of it; if he votes against all appropriations for the army and navy, if he calls the war an "unholy crusade against the south," if he "cordial sympathies are wholly with her," if he attempts to amend the constitution that the country shall be divided into four sections; if he votes against enforcing the laws and preserving the Union by force; if he makes speeches against the conscription; as he has done in all these cases, yet H. L. Palmer thinks he ought to be elected!

We have, therefore, a Vallandigham candidate for governor in this state in the person of H. L. Palmer, the "nobler act" of whose life, as his friends, was his vote against the soldiers' suffrage law. By this test we know him, and by his declaration of sympathy for the traitor Vallandigham, we read his heart.

Let every voter in Wisconsin who rejoices in the defeat of Vallandigham, make sure that his friend H. L. Palmer is also beaten at the polls.

From the Eighth Regiment.

HEADQUARTERS 8TH REGIMENT WIS. VOL.

PORT JEFFERSON, N. Y., Oct. 10, 1863.

Messrs. Editors:—As a great portion of the Army of the Tennessee has left for other fields, I thought many of our friends at home would be anxious to know what part of the country we were in, I therefore send you a few lines for publication to let them know our position. Gen. Sherman's corps, except our division, left here some time since to operate in another direction. Besides another corps of the army, the 3d division, to which our brigade is attached, is left in the vicinity of Vicksburg. The 2d brigade, Gen. Mower's, to which our regiment belongs, is stationed at the post of Vicksburg, the advance post of our lines. This brigade is the only one in this army that has held together and retained the same name since the first formation of the Army of the Mississippi, under Gen. Pope, at New Madrid and Island No. 10. We have in the brigade a regiment or battery from every loyal state bordering on the Mississippi river, including Missouri. We do not take up so much room as we did two years ago, but we have the satisfaction of knowing that we are good enough for the same amount of cavalry that boasted not long since that one child of the sunny south was good for five of us northern mud-sills; but O, glory! haven't we taken that conceit out of them? And don't they know it too? Just about one year ago to-day I think they lost considerable confidence in themselves. The first day they got a little the best of us, but the second day we started them. "Old Rosey" is always the best on the home stretch.

We have had no news from the north now in ten days. We have rumors that Rosecrans has been defeated. We get it through rebel sources; but we happen to know Rosey well enough to be satisfied that if he has been whipped he won't stay whipped long; and we further know that somebody else got terribly hurt during the fight. "We are on the way, Brother Rosecrans, thirty thousand more!" Bragg will sing, before many weeks, "Get out of the wilderness."

The weather is very fine here; cool enough for troops to march comfortably. Sickiness is greatly on the decrease. We have but few men sick now in the regiment. Gen. Sherman inspected us a few weeks since, and said the 8th was a very fine regiment. He told Gen. Mower his brigade was small, but he wanted no better troops to command than the 2d. Gen. Rosecrans, Stanley, Plummer, Pope and Paine, several times during our service, have complimented us in the same manner; and the old 2d feels proud to know that their services have been appreciated by such men on more fields than one. We are now on our last year, having but a little more than ten months to finish our contract with Uncle Sam, hoping by that time that our old eagle (whose air name is Abe) may soar in triumph over this whole country. We will then be ready to carry him to Mexico, and put to flight the invader of our sister republic. We can then sing the "Star Spangled Banner in triumph shall wave over the land of the free," and not of the slave. It will then be constitutional to sign this way. We intend to send the president a quill from the wing of his namesake to make out the final statements of the confederacy in about three months. The confederacy is mighty sick—it cannot be helped. The tender nursing that the copperheads are giving it may keep it up for three or four months yet, but we are the doctors, and if you at home will vote out the nurses we will give it the kind of medicine that will terminate its existence. We will do that, and do the voting too; but don't depend on the soldiers to do all you must go to it as though there was not a soldier to vote; beat them at home. We want a large majority there to strengthen our hands. Don't let a man be elected that is not in favor of carrying on this war until every traitor north or south shall respect our starry banner everywhere on land or sea. We love our families and homes, and would like all to enjoy them, but unless rebellion is dead we have no homes worth living for. Rebellion dead, we have homes worth living for, and homes for generations to come, a home without war, a country in peace, and with plenty for all who may come; that is the kind of home and country we want; that is what we are fighting for. Those men that tell you they want peace, just tell them to vote for war; vote men and money, and they will have peace; nothing but war will bring peace now, and the more war the quicker the peace.

We don't wish you to understand we glory in war, that we like it as a business. There is not a man in the army but would say peace to-day if he thought it would be a permanent peace, an honorable peace; if this was to stop anywhere short of submission to federal authority on the part of the south we in a few years would be at war again. Settle it now, and forever; better have one big war than to have a hundred little ones; better have a war when such a man as Abraham Lincoln is in the chair than to have one with such a man as he relieved. If Gen. Rosecrans has got whipped in Tennessee and he should lose his entire army, vote him another. We have unbounded confidence in him. If he is defeated some one else is to blame. I hope the report may prove untrue; but if such is the case we say try again. We are certainly the longest winded, our credit is good, one dollar in greenbacks buys twenty Confederate dollars here; plenty of Confederate money for sale, but no buyers. That shows what confidence they have in their cause.

We are anticipating an attack here daily from the rebel cavalry in our front. We are fortifying and blockading the roads. Our force is small, but we are ready. A large amount of stores are here, which is their object of attack. I suppose the pioneer corps of our division is here preparing facines and gabions for the fortifications at Vicksburg, which are to be very extensive. The lines are greatly contracted around the city, but the works will be far stronger than the old works and can be defended by a small force. We are in good spirits, hoping and expecting to hear of new victories soon both north and south. Col. Jefferson is at home in Wisconsin. Company G is pretty well represented at headquarters, both the quartermaster and adjutant from that company, also the commandant of the regiment. Quite a number of the officers and men are yet home on furlough; 30 of the 38 commissioned officers in the regiment have been home this summer on furlough and a great number of enlisted men. All seem to be benefited by the trip. Capt. King never looked better than now. The Chaplain is going to give us a lecture this afternoon and as the time is about at hand I must close to attend. Hoping for the welfare of all, I am yours truly, W. B. BRITTON, 8th Wis. Vol. Infantry.

TO-DAY'S REPORT.

MORNING DISPATCHES.

CHATTANOOGA, Oct. 12.

Special to Tribune, via Nashville, Oct. 12th.—Complete official returns from the infantry engaged in the late battles have been received, and give the following statistics:

Thomas' corps.—Officers killed, 26; wounded, 266; missing, 129; men killed, 636; wounded, 3,291; missing, 2,127; total, 6,301.

Crittenden's corps.—Officers killed, 40; wounded, 165; missing, 70; men killed, 303; wounded, 2,367; missing, 1,003; total, 4,520.

Crittenden's corps.—Officers killed, 20; wounded, 2,157; total, 3,000.

Two brigades of Granger's reserve corps, engaged early in the afternoon of the second day, fought eight hours, officers killed, 16; men, 230; officers wounded, 53; men, 877; officers missing, 34; men, 527; total, 1,732. The losses of the cavalry are not reported. It will make grand aggregate of about 16,000. Of this, 4,685 are missing, about 2,500 of the wounded and 30 pieces of artillery were lost, and a few wagons.

Southern papers of the 9th are received. They insist that their whole loss did not exceed 12,000, but partial returns published by them indicate that it is greater. Hindman's division alone, lost 2,100, out of 3,400 men. The time of their retreat is given by Bragg to take Chattanooga. Joe Johnston is proved to have been all the time in Mississippi, and not with Bragg's army. Their reports from Mississippi say that two corps from Grant's army had gone to capture Rosecrans, one overland from Memphis, the other by water.

Jeff Davis is reported to have arrived in Bragg's army on the 10th. All quiet along our front for the last two days.

The role of Ohio regiments belonging to the army at this point, as far as received up to this morning is 9,423 for Bragg, to 252 for Vallandigham; 15 regiments and 8 batteries are to be heard from, which will swell Bragg's majority to over 12,000. Torrents of rain have continually fallen, which kept both sides quiet for three days. The roads are getting very bad.
